

WARDMAN DOWNES PUT OFF THE FORCE.

Commissioner Partridge Dismisses Him for "Aiding and Abetting" a Pool-Room.

Police Commissioner Partridge announced this morning that he had dismissed John H. Downes, patrolman and former wardman for ex-Police Capt. Timothy Creeden, from the police force. Downes was recently tried on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and prejudicial to the public welfare. He was also accused of violating the rules of the Police Department in that he failed to close three alleged gambling-houses.

Police Capt. Creeden was also to have been tried on charges connected with the gambling-houses, but because of physical disability, testified to by the Board of Police Surgeons, he was released.

The Commissioner in his announcement said, after relating the misconduct, neglect of duty and disobedience he had found Downes guilty of, that "I also find him guilty of the charge of aiding and abetting one William E. Reilly in keeping and occupying the premises at No. 214 East Eighth-street as a pool-room, and I sentence the said John H. Downes to be dismissed from the department."

Members of the Citizens' Union went to Downes, according to the testimony elicited at his trial, and represented themselves to him as Western gamblers who had plenty of money and wanted to bet on the races. After some intercourse Downes gave the amateur detectives his personal card, which obtained for them admittance to the rooms of the William E. Reilly Association, where, they alleged, they placed bets and lost money.

Downes is married and lives with his family in Kingsbridge. He was an engineer before becoming a policeman. He was appointed to the force on Nov. 17, 1888, and made a precinct detective on June 19 last and assigned to Capt. Creeden's precinct. He is forty-one years old.

STOLE EXPRESS PARCELS?

Police Say Man Represented Himself to Be Expressman.

George Wiley, eighteen years old, of No. 220 York street, Jersey City, who says he is an ex-employee of the Adams Express Company, was arraigned before Magistrate Barlow in the Jefferson Market Court this morning.

According to the police, Wiley, wearing a cap of the express company, would enter stores in front of which hung the sign of the express company, and secure in them packages to be sent away, representing himself to be an employee of the Adams Express Company.

He was held in $1,000 bail for a further examination.

CREEDEN'S WARDMAN GOES.

Patrolman Downes Dismissed for Protecting Pool-Room.

Patrolman John H. Downes, wardman for Capt. Creeden, was released from the police force this morning by order of Commissioner Partridge.

The charge against Downes was that he gave protection to William E. Reilly's pool-room at No. 214 East Eighth-street. He was released because of the charge in the investigation instituted by the Commissioner.

"COME ON, BOYS!" NOT YET ON VIEW.

Artist Verestchagin, Better This Morning, Says Picture Will Be Exhibited on Monday.

Verestchagin, the famous Russian painter, who is confined by sickness to his apartment at the Bryant Park Studios, No. 80 West Fortieth street, was rather better this morning. He refused to see a reporter, and referred him to his manager, John Fell O'Brien.

Mr. O'Brien was seen at the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf. He said that it was true the painter had grumbled yesterday at the way in which some of the pictures were hung, and that he went off in a huff. "He'll soon get over that," added Mr. O'Brien.

"The San Juan picture, 'Come On, Boys,' will be exhibited here on Monday night. President Roosevelt saw the picture last Tuesday and approved it. The finishing touches are now being given. Verestchagin will be here himself to-night."

EIGHT HORSES BURNED.

Two Got Out of Burning Stable but Had to Be Shot.

Eight horses were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the stables of Daily Brothers, at Nos. 2, 4 and 6 West One Hundred and Forty-first street early to-day. There were more than twenty horses in the barn but all were rescued before the flames and smoke made it impossible for the firemen to re-enter the building.

Two of the eight killed were got outside of the stable but were so badly burned that they were shot by the police. The stable was a one-story structure and the loss is estimated by the owners at $2,000. The fire was discovered by the watchman, but the cause is not known.
